

GRANT RECIPIENTS 2017

▶▶▶ For five decades, the Walk for Hunger has been Massachusetts' annual state-wide effort to fund community-based anti-hunger work that ensure everyone living here has access to good food—a basic right.

In 2017, through the individual fundraising efforts of Walk participants and our generous supporters, Project Bread invested in 263 community food programs—including soup kitchens, food pantries, community farms and gardens, health center hunger prevention, food rescue, childhood nutrition programs, and much more—in 91 communities across the state.
